and the Continent, the latter having grown out of bad crop news and small crop talk from this side, bindris here were not slow in absorbing all offerings on the call. The result was a firm opening, with prices 4 to 7 points higher. This gain was inter supplemented by a rise of 5 to 6 points, and all through the session the market displayed inherent strength and great activity. The sudden stiffening of the market brought in a small avalanche of investment orders, Wall street leading in this class of business. The South, which has figured in an important way of late as a buyer, redoubled its efforts along this line, and in addition to hedging against oversales in spot cotton, bought largely for investment account as well. Shorts were additionally discomined by the news that continued rains were delaying picking in the eastern belt, while in the western division the temperature has further dropped. The fact that receipts at the ports, as well as at interior towns, were declining, engendered builtsh sentiment in investment circles and added to the confidence of longs. There were periods of profit-taking in the morning, but the market generally showed well-sustained strength. The close was firm at a net gain of 10 to 12 points.

Magnus Robinson Thinks Warrenton Would Be Unhealthy. Magnus L. Robinson, president of the National Emancipation Association of Virginia, issued a circular to-day asking the colored people of the State not to go to Warrenton on the 22d instant to attend the celebration of emancipation, as contemcelebration of emancipation, as contem-plated and previously arranged by the Langston Monument and Emancipation Association, says yesterday's Washington Stat. He states that the engagement with the Southern railroad to run a chartered excursion from Washington to Warrenton Friday has been canceled and no charexcursion from Washington to Warrendon Friday has been canceled, and no chartered trains will be run into Warrenton Friday. He also sates that Mayor Spillman is still alarmed, and he for one is not disposed to excite the nervous temperament of the mayor. The least friction at Warrenton next Friday, says Rob-
